Design System

The visual language for a fragrance encyclopedia. Tokens, type, components, and the rules that hold them together.

BRAND

Know what you're wearing.

Spritz is a mobile-first fragrance encyclopedia. Scan a bottle, get the full story — notes, perfumer, longevity, how to wear it. Built for the FragTok and r/fragrance audience tired of tab-juggling between FrAGRANTICA, Reddit, and YouTube.

VOICE

Confident, knowledgeable, never snobby.

Spritz writes like a friend who happens to know everything about fragrance — not a Sephora associate, not a perfume blogger doing brand work. The reader is curious and intelligent. They don't need to be sold to or talked down to.

IN

Specific over evocative.
Sensory comparisons that tell the reader something.

IN

Tell the truth. Cult favorites can be flawed; mass-market hits can be good.

IN

Length matches purpose. 30 words for notes. 100 for houses. Never padded.

Banned vocabulary

exquisite, luxurious, captivating, enchanting, sophisticated, elegant, mysterious, intoxicating, sensual, alluring, timeless, symphony, masterpiece, evocative, journey

No em dashes in copy

Use commas, periods, or break the sentence. Em dashes signal AI-generation in 2026.

No purple prose

"Smells like crushed mint stems" beats "a symphony of green freshness."

COLOR · FOUNDATION

Cream base, emerald primary, restrained accents.

A boutique-editorial palette: warm cream foundation, deep emerald as the brand color, a periwinkle accent stripe used sparingly. We never use stark white.

FOUNDATION

Cream

--CREAM

#F4EFE6

Base canvas. Page backgrounds. Replaces stark white.

Warm Paper

--PAPER

#E8E1D4

Surface elevation. Cards, family chips, elevated containers.

Ink

--INK

#1A1A1A

Primary text. High-contrast buttons. Active states.

Slate

--SLATE

#6B6960

Secondary text. Metadata. Caption-level information.

COLOR · ACCENTS + STATUS

Emerald primary. Brass for warmth. Burgundy for warning.

Emerald is the primary action color and the brand identity. Brass is reserved for confirmations and highlight moments. Periwinkle is the accent stripe between header bands and content. Burgundy is semantic — error states only.

ACCENTS

Emerald

--EMERALD

#1F3F2E

Primary CTAs. Brand wordmark. Header bands.
Score-bar fill. Success states.

Brass

--BRASS

#C9A961

Saved-state confirmations. Annual-plan highlight.
Occasion chips. Pro upsell.

Periwinkle

--PERIWINKLE

#5A85C5

Accent stripe between header bands and content.
Sparing use only.

Burgundy

--BURGUNDY

#8B3A3A

Error states. Destructive confirmations. Never decorative.

TYPOGRAPHY

Two families, clear hierarchy.

Playfair Display for hero and section headings. Roboto for everything else, in Light + Extra Light weights. The "Mono" category is a style pattern (small uppercase tracked metadata), not a separate font.

SPACING & RADIUS

Tailwind defaults, mobile-first.

Container width caps at 28rem (448px) on mobile — the app is designed phone-first. Section gap is 40px (mb-10). Inner padding is 24px (px-6). Radius is generous — 16px for cards, 24px for hero panels.

SPACING SCALE

2	 8px · gap between chips
3	 12px · padding inside chips, button vertical padding
4	 16px · default vertical rhythm
6	 24px · page horizontal padding (px-6)
8	 32px · between unrelated sections (mb-8)
10	 40px · default section gap (mb-10)

CONSENSUS

COMPONENTS · BOTTLE HERO

Glassmorphism, used once.

The only place we use a frosted-glass effect is the bottle image card on the detail page. Everywhere else: clean cream surfaces, no glass.

Backdrop wash

Soft 24px-blurred gradient (emerald/10, brass/10, paper/40) behind the card. Provides depth the glass refracts against.

Frosted card

bg-cream/40 + backdrop-blur-xl + 1px ink/5 border. Radius 24px. Padding 32px vertical.

Bottle image

200×267px. mix-blend-multiply removes the white background of FrAGRANTICA's product shots.

Don't replicate this elsewhere

No glass on cards, modals, nav, or other sections. Glass is the bottle's moment. Repeat it everywhere and the page loses focus.

PATTERNS · DETAIL PAGE ARCHITECTURE

Encyclopedia first, dupes last.

The detail page leads with what the bottle IS, not what to buy instead. Action row sits below the title; family + notes are the visual hero; dupes and similar fragrances live below the fold.

1	Bottle Hero (glass card)	Sets the visual register. The single permitted glassmorphism use.
2	Title block	House · year · gender (mono small caps) → Name (Playfair Display 56px).
3	Action row	3 Save buttons (Own/Tried/Wishlist) + Buy CTA. Save flips to brass when active.
4	Family	Paper-background chips. Accord categories — separate concept from notes.
5	Notes pyramid	Top / Heart / Base layers. Tap-to-expand flavor descriptions for any note in editorial dictionary.
6	Encyclopedia content	Perfumer credit, house history, "How to wear it," editorial commentary (italic emerald-bordered quote).
7	Known dupes	Curated editorial + AI-generated (Pro). Source-badged at the bottom of each card.
8	Similar fragrances	Algorithmic note-vector similarity. Collapsed by default, opt-in.

ANTI-PATTERNS

Things we don't do.

Most design errors are restraint failures. These are the lines this system holds.

Stark white (#FFFFFF)

Always Cream (#F4EFE6) for backgrounds. Stark white is harsh on phones and explicitly out of style in 2026.

Geometric sans-serifs (Poppins, Montserrat)

Roboto is the chosen sans. Don't substitute. Don't add a third font without a strong reason.

Glass effects beyond the bottle hero

One glass element per page maximum. Apply elsewhere and you signal "trendy" rather than "intentional."

Em dashes in user-facing copy

Use commas, periods, or break the sentence. Em dashes signal AI-generation in 2026 user perception.

Rainbow gradients

If you need ambient depth, use the bottle-hero backdrop pattern (emerald/10 + brass/10 + paper/40). Never harsh multi-color blends.

Banned vocabulary in copy

exquisite, luxurious, captivating, enchanting, sophisticated, elegant, mysterious, intoxicating, sensual, alluring, timeless, symphony, masterpiece, evocative, journey. Replace with specifics.

When in doubt, do less

Spritz's brand is "encyclopedia, beautifully presented." Restraint reads as confidence. Most design decisions get better when you remove rather than add.
